

REAL INTEGRATION.

“Integration” is a word that gets thrown around a lot. Manually uploading files between two programs is cooperation, not integration. Real integration is when data moves seamlessly between two platforms, as is the case with Time Rack’s TR365 and Thomson Reuters’ Accounting CS platform. Below is a short bidirectional diagram explaining how the two programs work together:

